Field TopMaker 1500

We have new equipment to rejuvenate your grounds!

Matchfit SportsTurf have invested in the latest Koro Field TopMaker 1500. It is the latest piece of equipment to hit the market in the ongoing fight to improve winter sports surfaces.

This heavy duty fraise mower, fitted with Koro's Universe rotor developed for use on football, rugby, cricket and also Desso - Grassmaster pitches. Variable depths can be set for specific requirements to remove undesirable herbage and organic layering.

Layering of organic matter is formed by the decomposition of grass debris combining with silt and fine clay particles brought to the surface by physical compression from the rigours of play.

This eventually produces an impervious, soggy organic surface layer, preventing the infiltration of surface water into the soil profile, AND to any installed drainage. Inevitably, this is contributable to the deterioration in the performance of pitches, and the proliferation of annual meadow grasses (poa annua) and mosses.

'Fraise mowing' or in layman's terms, ultimate scarification, removes shallower rooted annual meadow grasses and undesirable organic matter leaving the deeper rooted desirable rye grasses intact to regenerate a new sward.

All removed debris is collected, and via an elevator, ejected into an adjacent catching before commencing further renovation operations.

Raise your playing surface to the next level with MatchFit SportsTurf and the KORO Field Top Maker. For more information please contact Ian Reid
